MANHOOD

The How of It.

Siz:—Although I hardly expected to see the remarks made to your reporter on the condition of the wharf in print, I am quite willing to abide by the facts stated, and an examination of the lower portion of the wharf will show that I made no statement in any way incorrect.

The B. P. W. has replied in a manner characteristic of their usual methods. First they muidy the issue as much as possible, bringing outside issues and persons in. They do not deny that the wharf is mined at the place referred to, but in one place blame it on the contractor and in the next acknowledge that it was done by the Board. Then they vent a well known spleen against Mr. Kimberly, intimating a prostitution of his oflice as chairman of the Wharf Committee, because he was employed to do some hauling. Mr. Kimberly has assisted in our hauling for years, and only did his duty as a committee chairman in investigating a complaint made to him. A very lame defense is the siurs intimating that my complaints were made because of an order of the Board requiring the filling of a "set fall" (really a depression in the sidewalk of fifty years standing) at the old works in North Wheeling. No such order or occurrence was ever within my knowledge. Every member of the B. P. W. knows I have taken no interest and have never acted in any question connected with the electric light poles. I did per-my knowledge. Every member of the B. P. W. knows I have taken no interest and have never acted in any question connected with the electric light poles. I did personally object to allowing 'the dictum of the B. P. W. to so construct a pavement at our lower works, that we could not haul out of the yard, but I was glad to have the pavement, and since I secured my own method in the construction of the drive over, did not feel oflended.

Referring to what the B. P. W. characterize as a statement "too small and detestable" for approval, I have the statement of reliable persons that a member of the B. P. W. did say, that unless I would "let up" on the B. P. W. about the holes and stone piles, we would be compelled to pay wharfage.

In common with many others the writer was anxious to see some change for the better in the management of the B. P. W. would be beneficial to the general instrest. It is now I believe a fairly admitted fact, at least by the majority of those persons who have been brought into business and a barrier in the way of growing or new industries. A very short continuance of present methods will certainly produce a dustries. A very short continuance present methods will certainly produce public sentiment which will sweep out t ur predecessors and ourselves maintained private landing for the construction and titing out of new steamboats. During those years the firm of Hobbs, Taylor & Co., used the lower portion of the cuty wharf for finishing out the new boats they constructed, and never to my knowledge was an objection made nor were they charged with gobbling, or set down on for such use of the wharf. But then there was no B. P. W. who wanted that boat yard for a bone yard. When the Hamilton property was occupied by us, it became necessary to find some place to keep our new boats. We built one at the Belmont Mill landing under great difficulty, the bank fillings having caused it to become shoal and the smoke destroyed the paint. We then placed one boat at the LaBelle landing and would have our boats there this season only that the trestling of the railroad extension has blocked it off. We built three boats above the upper part of the wharf, but the railroad track was extended sidewise and we can no longer drive down with a heavy load. No other place being left us at all, near our shops, we moved our boats last season (five all told) near the upper end of the freight depot, and that before the holes were dug and would preferred to have placed our boats there this season if that portion of the wharf were still in the condition it were dog and would preserved to have piaced our boats there this season if that portion of the wharf were still in the condition it was this time last year, but it is not. The great B. P. W. have mutilated the landing, and let the people judge whether it be better for the material interests of this city to have that portion of their landing occupied by new boats building, or by one of those living boats which infest the banks as it now is because we have thus been

It is no doubt a good, thing for the peo-ple that the B. P. W. have been compelled to show their policy, viz. If you don't like our way of doing you can get out. There is one way every person compelled to have dealings with the B. P. W. may get along smoothly, and that is to adopt the same assemble and view the ruins, they will be more inclined to ask the resignation of the B. P. W. than to give them control of the wharf. Good-bye, B. P. W.

A few eveningssince a very pretty young lady, residing at Trappe, Md., was complaining of the rheumatism in her back when her aunt suggested that she should have it rubbed with hartshorn liniment. The old lady picked up the lamp and opened the cupboard door to get the bottle, when the light was accidentally extinguished; but the bottle being a peculiarly snaped one it was easily picked out in the darkness from others. The young lady said to her aunt: "Never mind relighting the lamp; ust rub on the stuff in the dark," and the liniment was applied to the bare back. Alters vigorous rubbing and much waste of the liquid the young lady said it did not have the odor peculiar to hartshors, and most study and a yell tollowed, for, instead of using hartshorn liniment they discovered that it was the blackest kind of ink. The little boy of the household had brought it from school that day in a bottle similar to the one the liniment was in.

I have been bitterly opposed to any medicine not prescribed by a physician of my choice. My wife, fifty-six years old, had come by degrees of disease to a slow sundown and doctors failed to benefit her. I got a bottle of Hop Bitters for her, which soon relieved her in many ways. My kidneys were badly affected, and I took twenty doses, and found much relief. I sent to Galveston for more, but word came back, none in the market, so great is the demand; but I got some elsewhere. It has restored both of us to good health, and we are duly grateful.
